

MCS Matters

Worried about MRSA or Swine Flu?

On the 11th of June the World Health Organisation declared swine flu (influenza A virus subtype H1N1) had reached global pandemic status. On the 14th June it claimed the life of its first UK victim, and on the 16th of June the Guardian reported that the total number of infected people in the UK had risen to 1,462. While these developments are worrying to everyone, especially those with other serious health problems, they may be of particular concern to MCS sufferers for whom the standard allopathic defences of vaccination and/or antibiotics are just not viable options. Does that mean that this group of MCS sufferers are left defenceless as this global pandemic continues to gather pace? Fortunately, no it doesn't.

For the MCS sufferer there are in fact many safe and powerful alternatives to conventional allopathic antibiotics available. Here are just a few examples:

- Colloidal Silver
- Olive Leaf Extract
- Manuka Honey
- Goldenseal (herb)
- Garlic

Of the natural antibiotics given above my personal favourite is Colloidal Silver. I make my own using an inexpensive Colloidal Silver Generator, at negligible cost, often pints at a time as I also use it as a replacement for disinfectants around the kitchen and bathroom. Fact: There are around 680 pathogenic organisms that cause us health problems of one kind or another. Colloidal Silver kills all of them - fast!

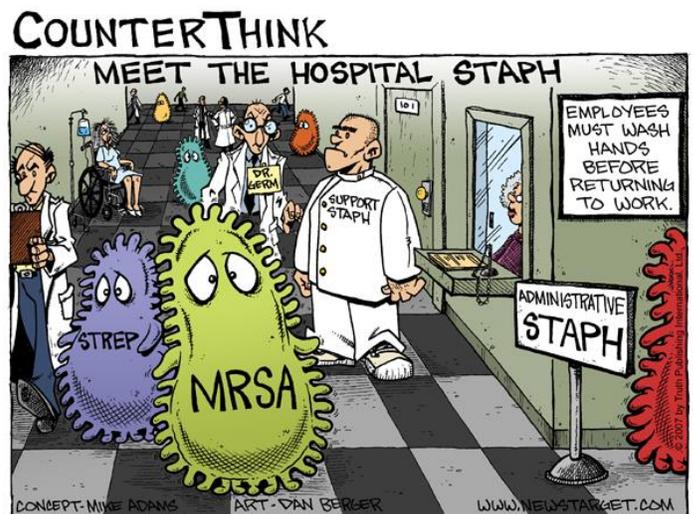

Hospitals, MRSA and MCS

In the USA the "Health Ranger" Mike Adams recently said that MRSA is now killing more Americans than AIDS. He goes on:

"MRSA outbreaks are entirely the fault of the conventional medical community, which has actually encouraged the breeding of the bacteria through rampant overuse of antibiotics. The rest of the story is that MRSA is easily killed by colloidal silver, garlic, rainforest herbs and numerous other natural remedies, but the entire conventional medical community continues to pretend these substances don't ex??? Thus, they refuse to embrace the actual cures for MRSA, and thousands of people are dying each year as a result. This medical catastrophe will continue for as long as doctors remain ignorant about the curative powers of natural remedies while remaining foolishly limited to the use of patented pharmaceuticals to treat all infections".

And the UK's record isn't much better!

For even more sources of safe natural anti-virals see Mike Adam's exceptional web site at:

www.naturalnews.com/Report_Anti-Viral_Remedies_Influenza_6.html

Food Inc: You'll never look at food the same way!

This very important documentary by Award winning filmmaker Robert Kenner launched in America on June 12th and blows the pretty lid right off the modern food industry. If you only watch one documentary a year then please watch this one. You can see a short trailer for it now on MCS International TV at the 25% M.E. Group web site. Don't miss it. As one reviewer so aptly put it: "Don't take another bite until you see Food Inc".

Until next time be safe and keep well.

Gordon D McHendry

Founder and Campaign Coordinator

MCS-International.Org

Web site: www.mcs-international.org

Email: mcs-matters@mcs-international.org